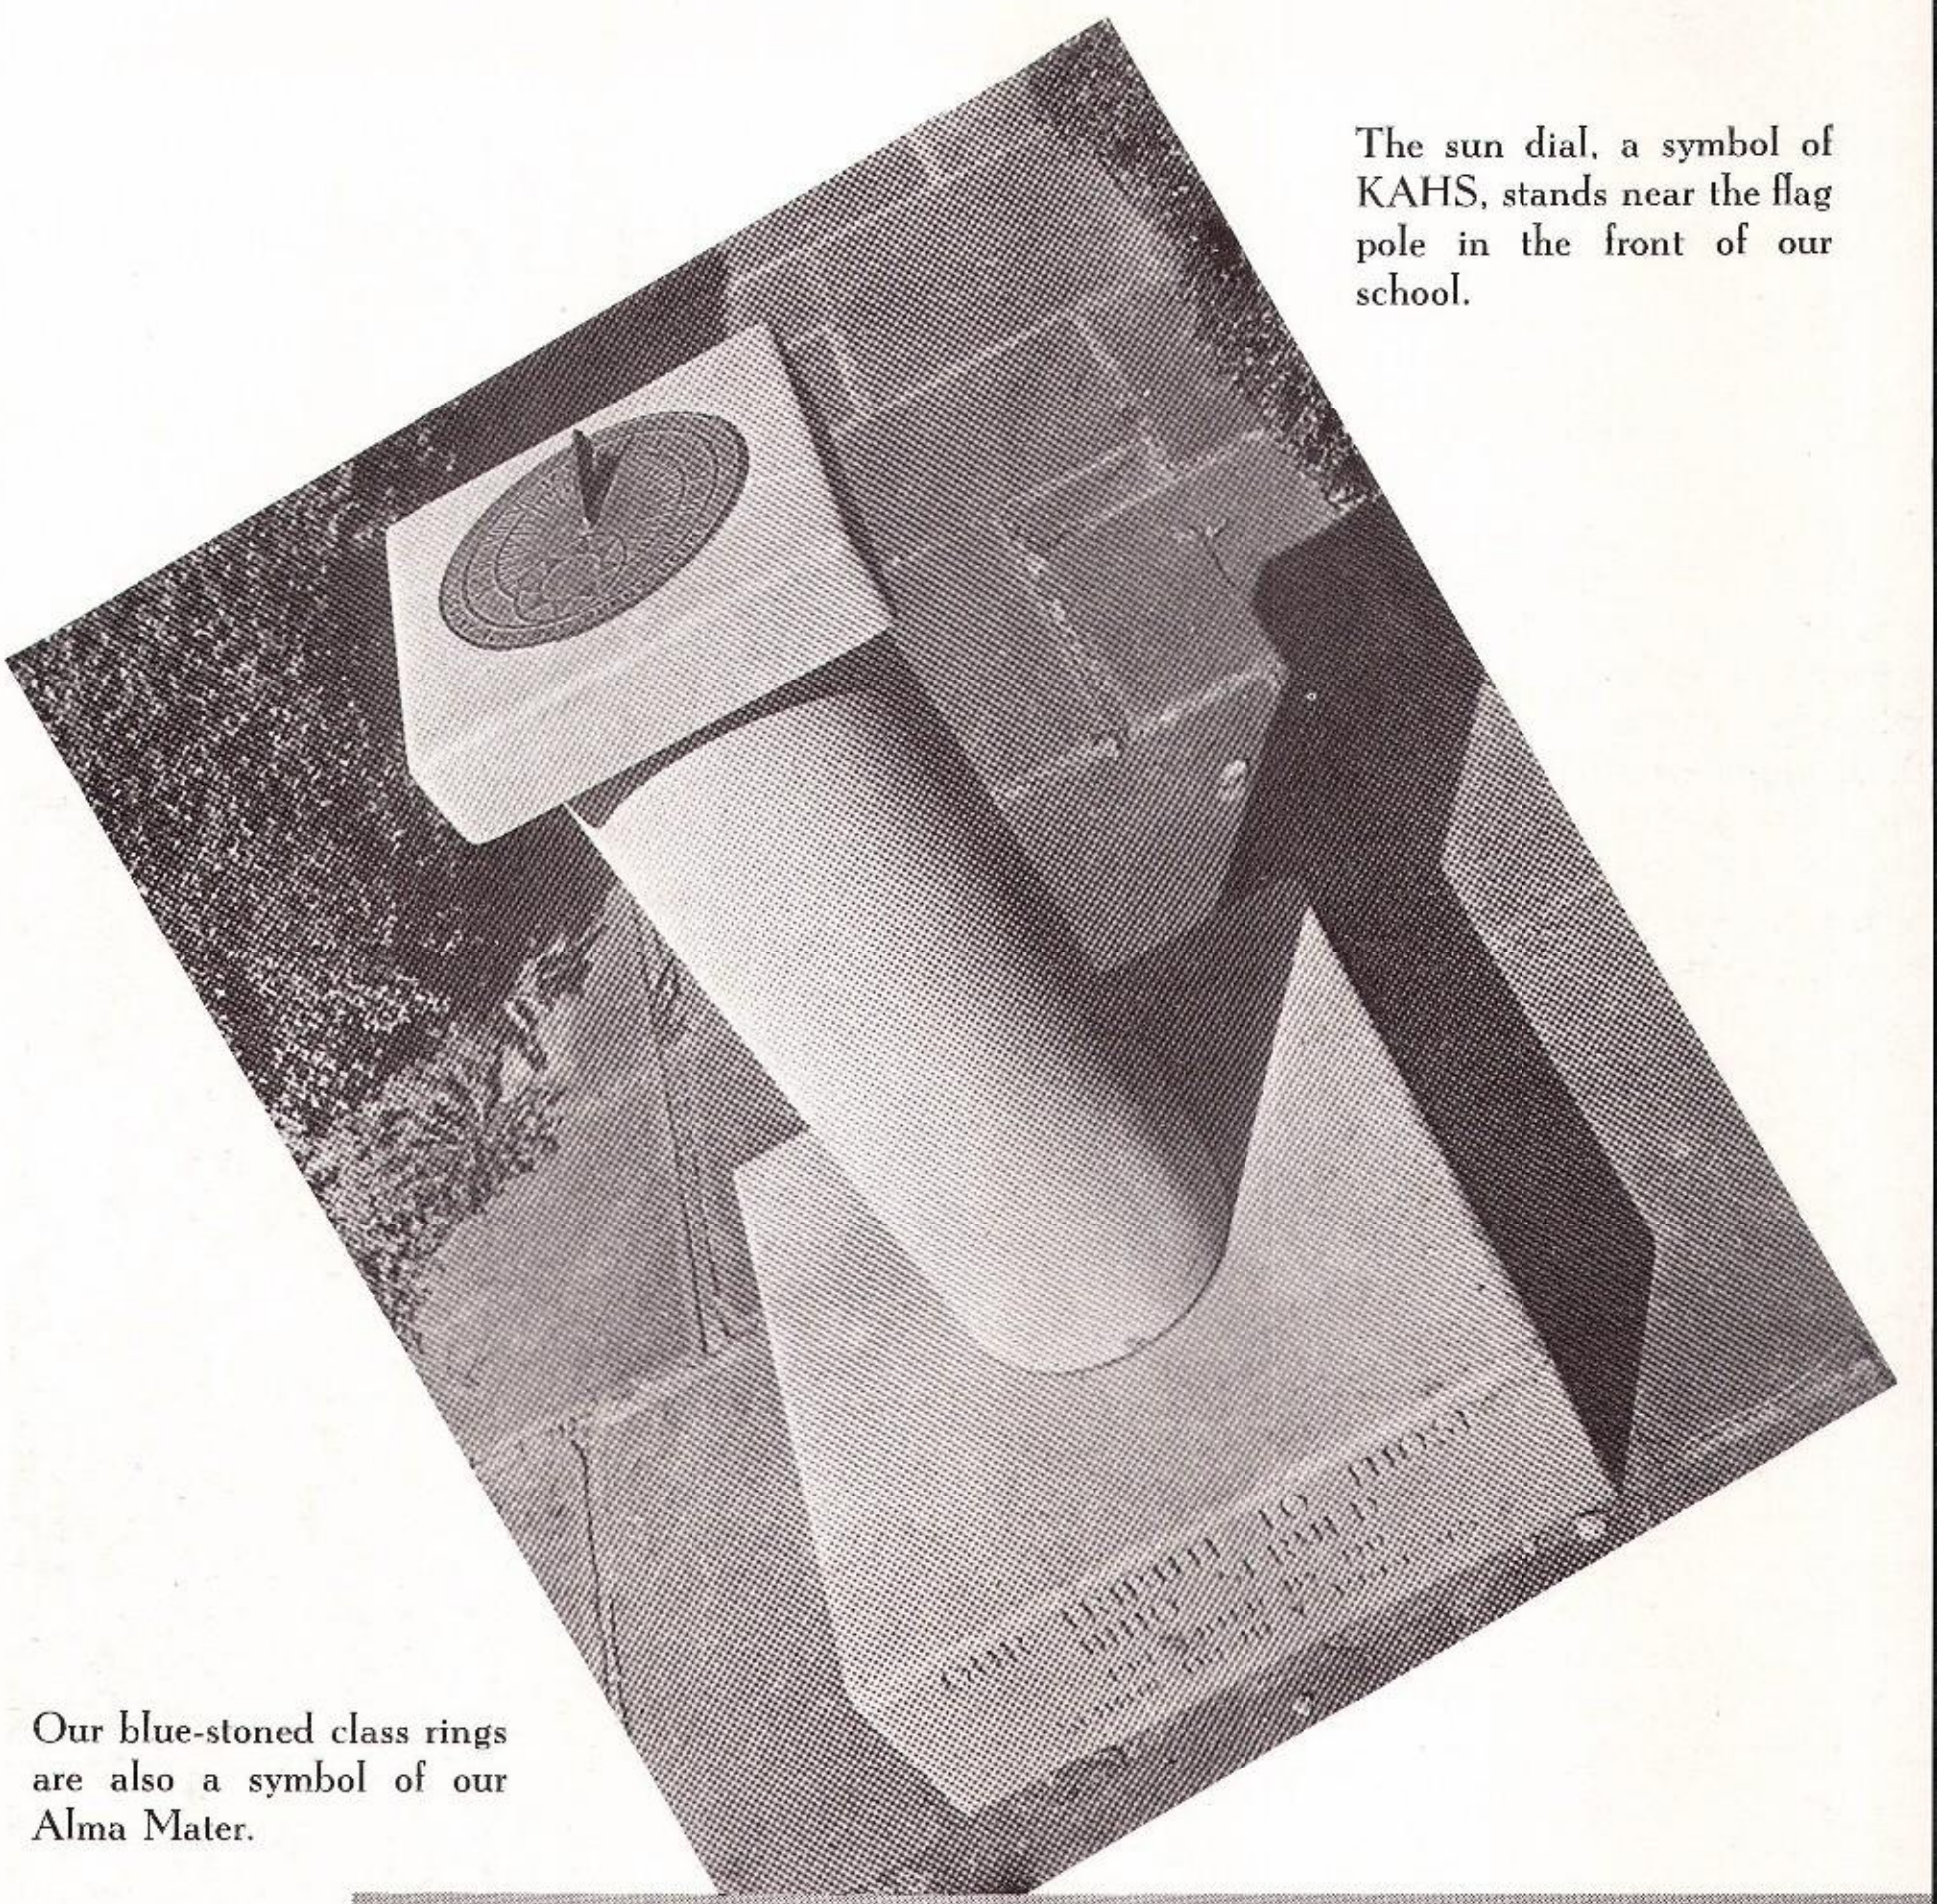
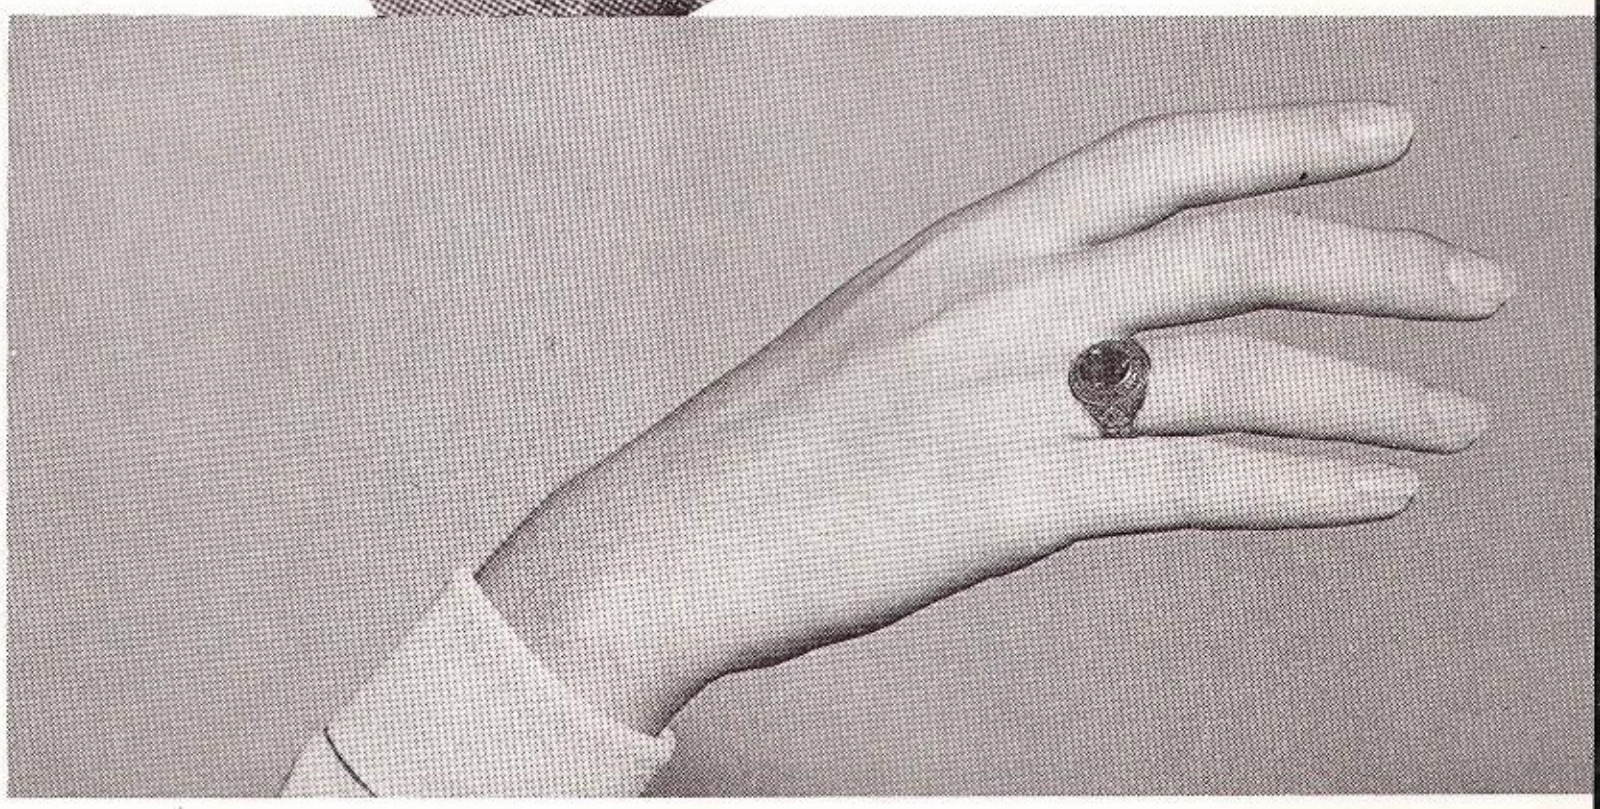
DEDICATION

We, the class of 1959, lovingly dedicate this yearbook as a small, yet sincere, token of the esteem and appreciation we hold for those who have guided us with the outstretched hand of love, devotion, and sacrifice through the past twelve years of essential education—our parents.



The sun dial, a symbol of KAHS, stands near the flag pole in the front of our school.

Our blue-stoned class rings are also a symbol of our Alma Mater.



PREFACE

As we look back upon our high school life, we remember that it hasn't all been work. Certainly we have had those nights when we carried home piles of books and those days when one test or quiz followed the other, but it hasn't proved disastrous to any of us. What we will remember best, however, are those fabulous times we had working and playing together. They started in tenth grade when we took our trip to the Philadelphia Zoo with Mr. Keim and his student teacher acting as chaperons. Then in our junior year we toured the Hershey Chocolate Plant and the battlefield at Gettysburg where some of us showed our rebellious spirit by purchasing Confederate flags. That same year we selected our class colors, brown and tan, and then ordered our attractive class jackets. Our school rings, the standard gold band and blue stone design, also arrived about the middle of the year. Of course, our pride in KAHS soared to new heights when our school regained its title as Berks County Basketball Champions by defeating Wyomissing in a display of our team's excellent basketball ability and determination. Along the more academic line, those of us who had chemistry will never forget those times when we wondered whose experiment would be the next to explode.

Then came the climax—we were seniors at last. To us came all the privileges and duties of KAHS seniors. We sat for portraits, we ordered our calling cards and commencement invitations, and we made plans for the future, since graduation was fast approaching. What a grand time we had staging our class play, "May I Come In?" Its success was overwhelming, but then we surely worked hard enough to deserve it. But no doubt the greatest moment in our entire high school life came on the evening when our basketball team won the 1959 Class B State Championship title. Words cannot describe the feeling which arises when your Cougar team has won twenty-nine games, has lost none, and has reached the summit—the highest title for which it can strive. Now our pride in KAHS has been rooted even more firmly. There are other things worth remembering, too. Our stock market board in P.O.D. was lots of fun, and so was our trip to the courthouse. Our Senior Farewell was a bit more solemn an occasion, for then we began to realize what the name really signified.

Now all that fun and work is ended. We will never be able to return and spend three more years at KAHS with our classmates and faculty. All we can do now is remember the big and the little things which happened there and hope that other classes will have the same fun and opportunities which we have had as the Class of 1959.

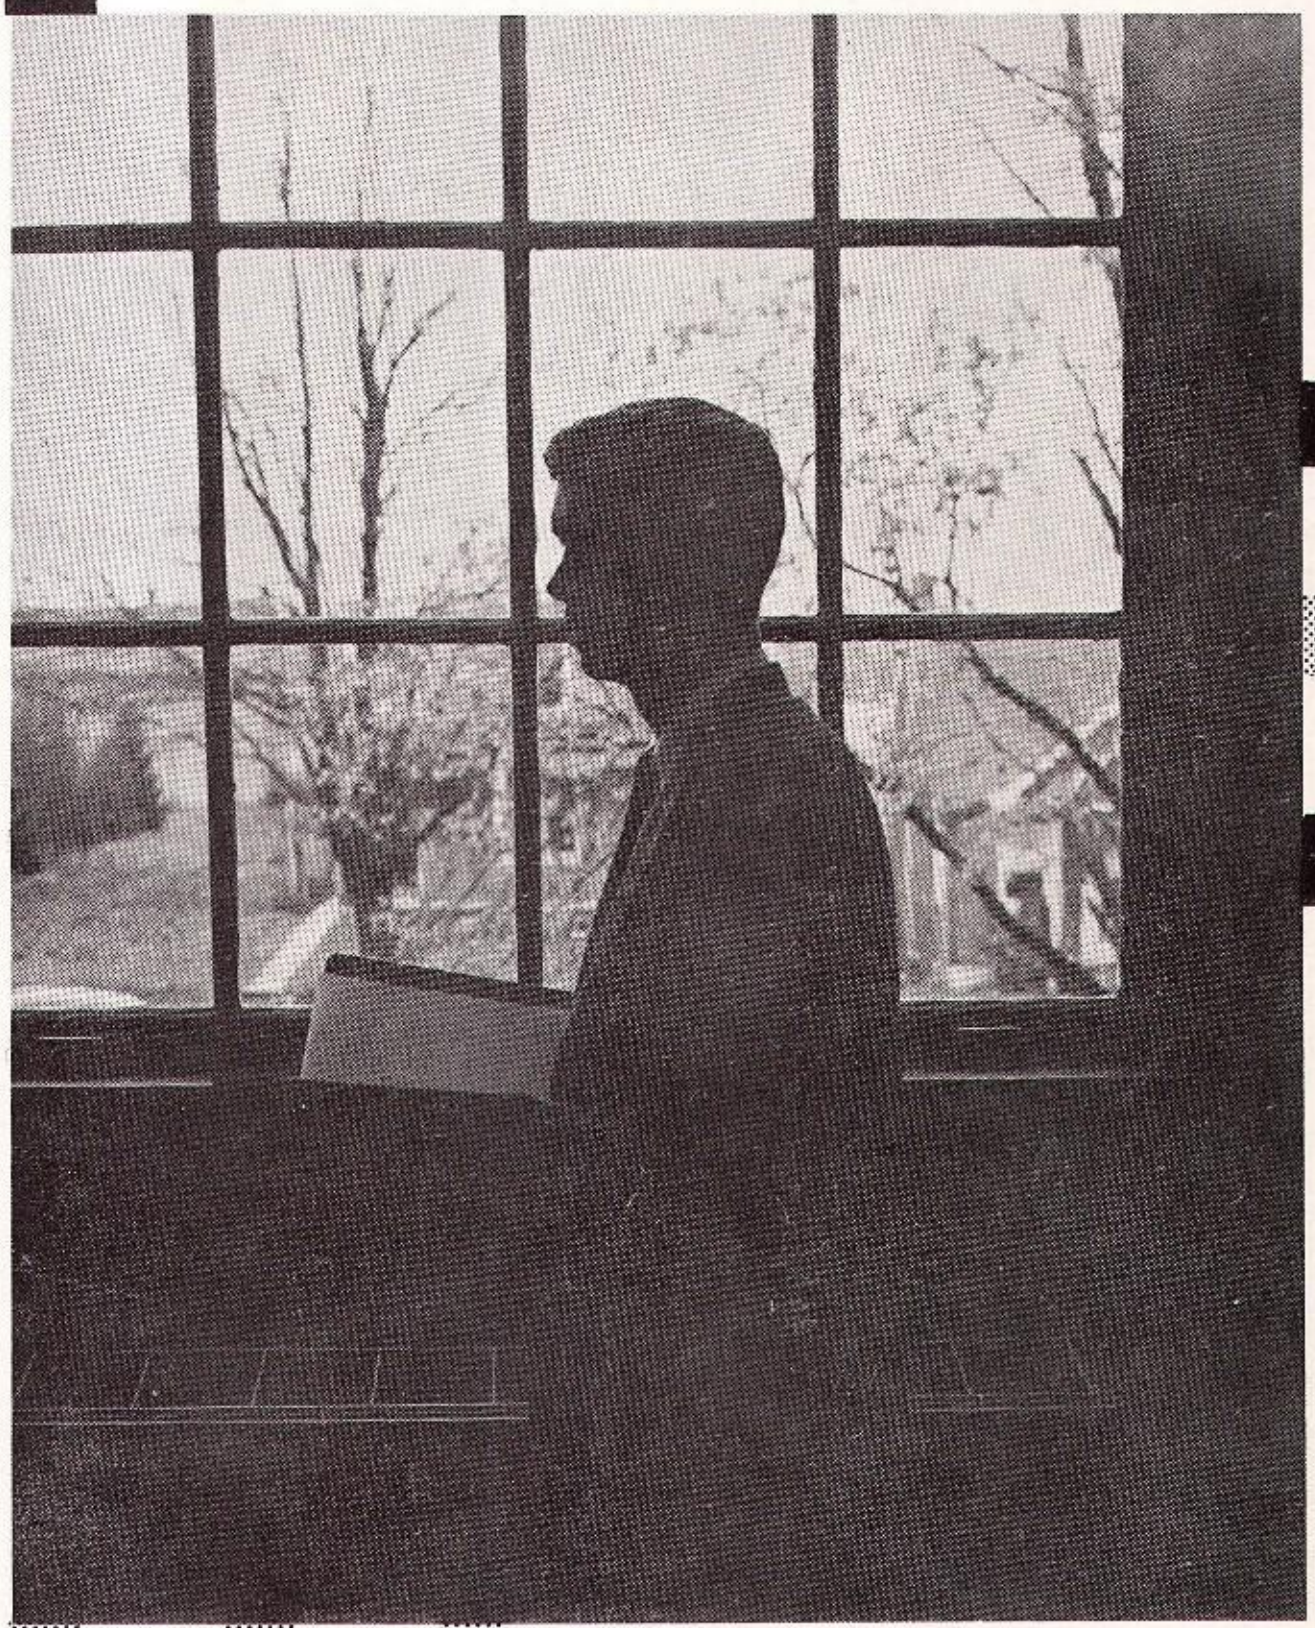
FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION



A MESSAGE TO THE CLASS OF 1959

High School graduation is an event you have been looking forward to for many years. While achieving this important goal, you must realize that it signifies the beginning of a new, a fuller, a more significant life of adulthood and realism. It is this life that you have been preparing for all through your school days.

In your journey through life maintain high ethical and moral standards, remain humble in spite of success, and in all things seek the guiding hand of Divine Providence. I challenge you to apply your knowledge, skills, and abilities for the good of all humanity.

My personal good wishes go with each member of the Class of 1959. May you find success and happiness in life.

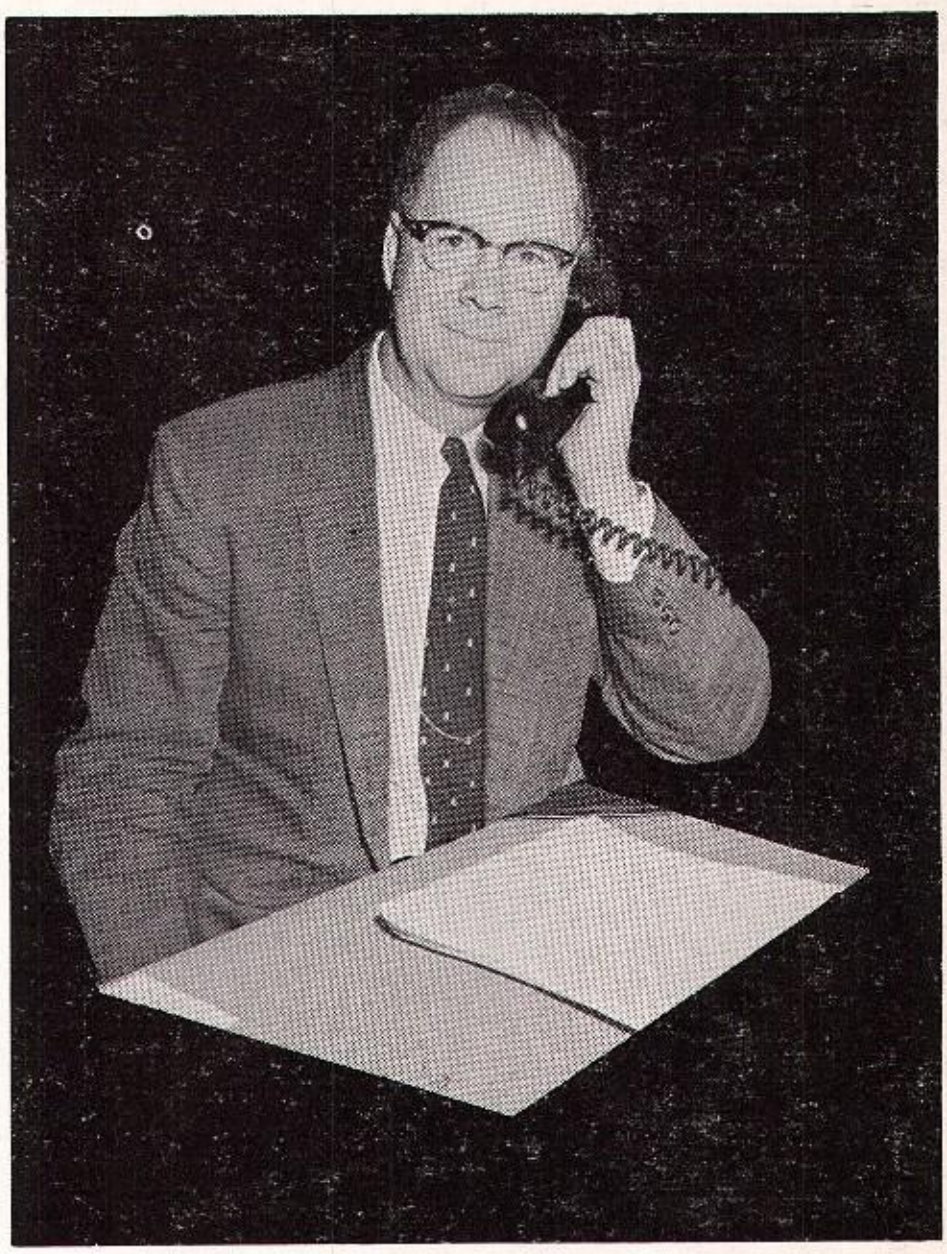
PAUL C. DUNKELBERGER
B.S., M.S., M.A.
Supervising Principal of Area Schools

The future growth and development of our nation depends vitally upon the initiative, imagination and understanding of our youth who will be the leaders of tomorrow. For this reason it was highly desirable that every effort was made to give you, the graduating class of 1959, a better understanding of your responsibilities and opportunities in helping to expand the unlimited boundaries of progress.

As you and your classmates are talking about futures, some of you will decide to enter the professions, some the trades, others the armed services and other types of employment. Each one should have a goal; therefore, aim high but do not think that you have to reach your goal the day after tomorrow. Hard work and devotion face each one of you if you desire to achieve your goal. No matter what the future is going to be, individuals of intelligence and of ability are going to be the ones who have the best chance for success. All must realize that the whole story of success is not written in books that much satisfaction is derived by doing one's best and making one's life count in service to humanity.

To you the class of 1959, my personal best wishes for happiness and success.

L. MERLIN STAUFFER
Ph.B., M.Ed.
High School Principal



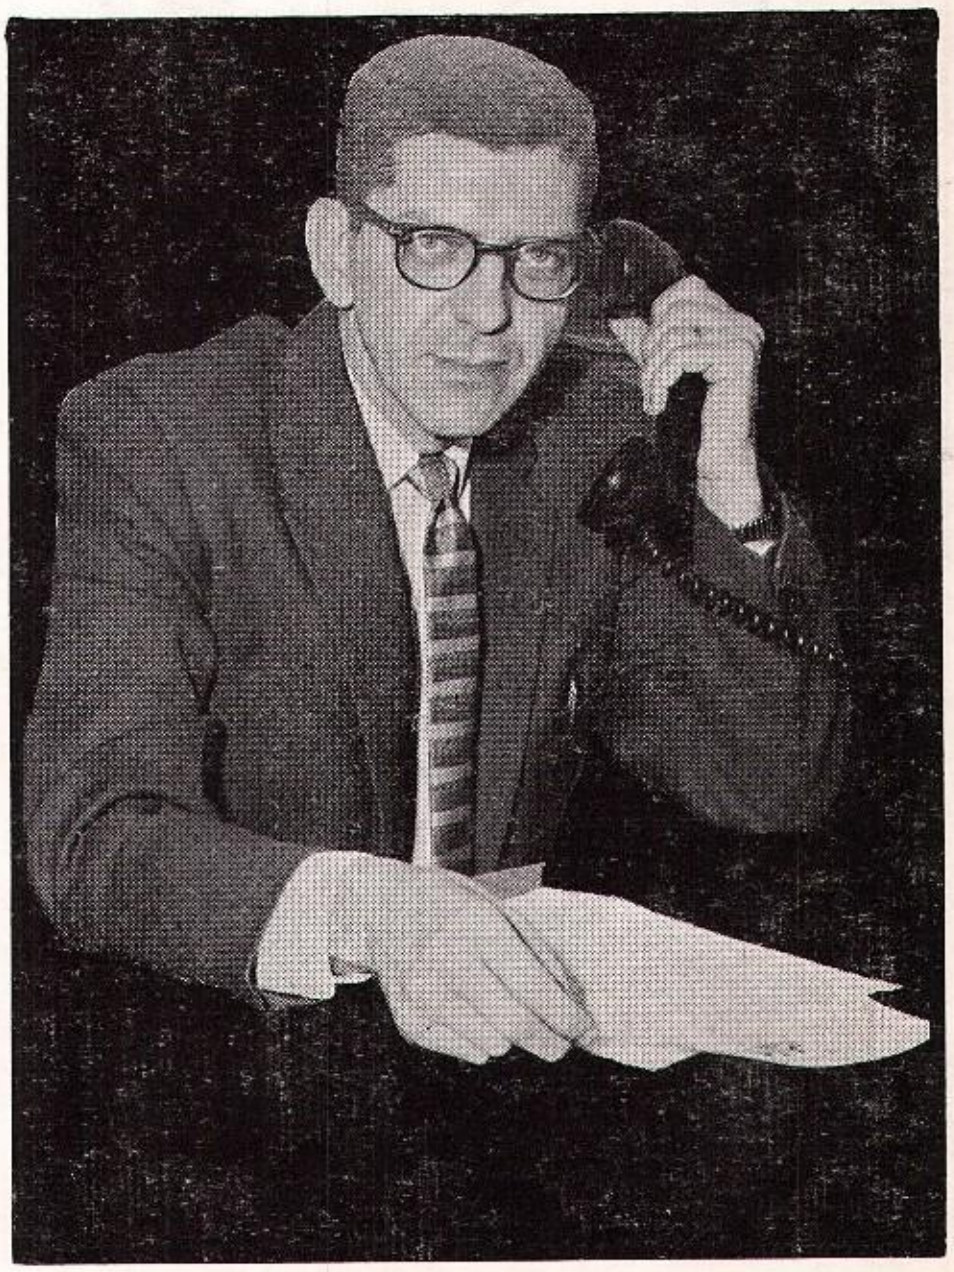
Graduation from high school is a highlight in your young careers and one which you will cherish for many long years ahead. For most of you it signifies the completion of your formal education. For all of you it means the start of many new adventures in life. You will look back to your school days longingly and only then come to the full realization of the many opportunities you have had before you.

You have been a part of the greatest American institution—that of the American public school system. The ideals and goals of education in America are unparalleled anywhere throughout the world. Education is the foundation of our democracy and only through the educative process can or will our democratic way of life continue to exist.

The time has now come for you to make application of those facts, skills, and attitudes, which you learned and developed in school. Set for yourselves high goals in life and strive to attain them. Your success will mean the continued growth and success of the nation.

My sincere best wishes go with each of you as you move onward to new and broader horizons.

RALPH B. SHANKWEILER
B.S., M.S.
Junior High Principal



THE SCHOOL BOARD

THE CLERICAL STAFF

The men and women who work in the administrative offices have a great deal of responsibility and they carry it well. Whether you have come to get a late permission slip, to deposit some class money, or to see the principal, you receive fast, yet kind attention.

The office employees are Warren R. Gernerd, Lorraine E. Dries, Miriam R. Schroeder, and Jean B. Kistler.

THE GUIDANCE COUNSELOR

Mrs. Laura L. Lannon, head of the Guidance Department, ably assists pupils in selecting and entering a college, in securing scholarships, and in finding jobs after graduation. In addition to these duties, she teaches guidance classes in grades 7, 8, 9, and 12, and is willing to help students with their various problems.

OF TYPEWRITERS AND TELEPHONES

Mrs. Jean A. P. Held and Howard J. Dietrich instruct the students in the Business Education courses.

"Hands on home row. Ready—begin." To our business education students, these words are almost second nature. Our commercial department does an excellent job of instructing future secretaries. The boys and girls study typing, shorthand, business law, consumer economics, business English, and bookkeeping. In order to receive experience in office practice they take a course in filing and learn how to perform other duties such as answering telephones and running the various business machines. The girls serve in the capacity of Student Secretaries for high school faculty members.

Arlene Arndt and Richard Kunkel operate one of the many modern business machines which are a part of our department.

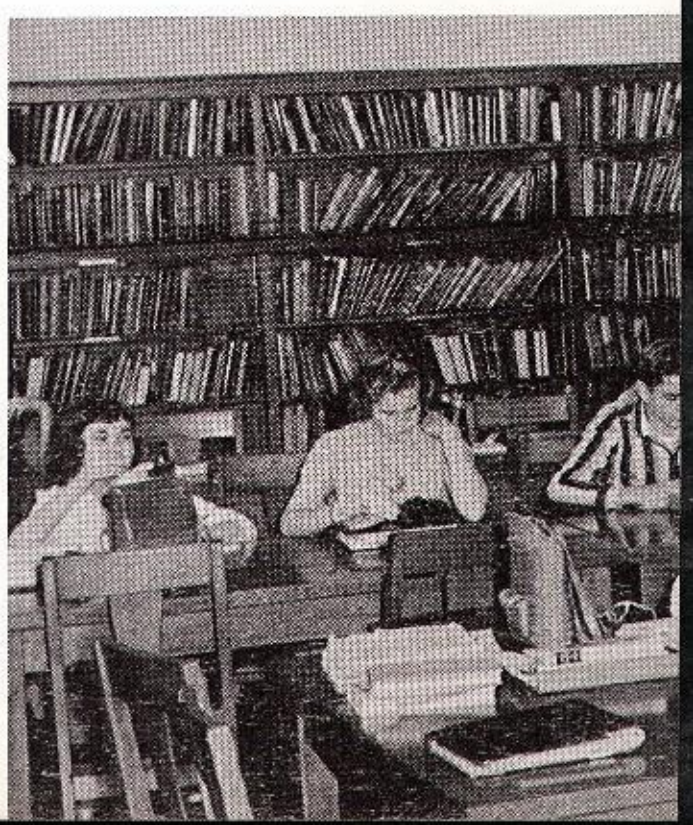
The KAHS English faculty includes Ray L. Kelley, Raymond L. Fisher, Harold L. Hehr, Mrs. Marie R. Hehr, and Mrs. Viola S. Beekey.

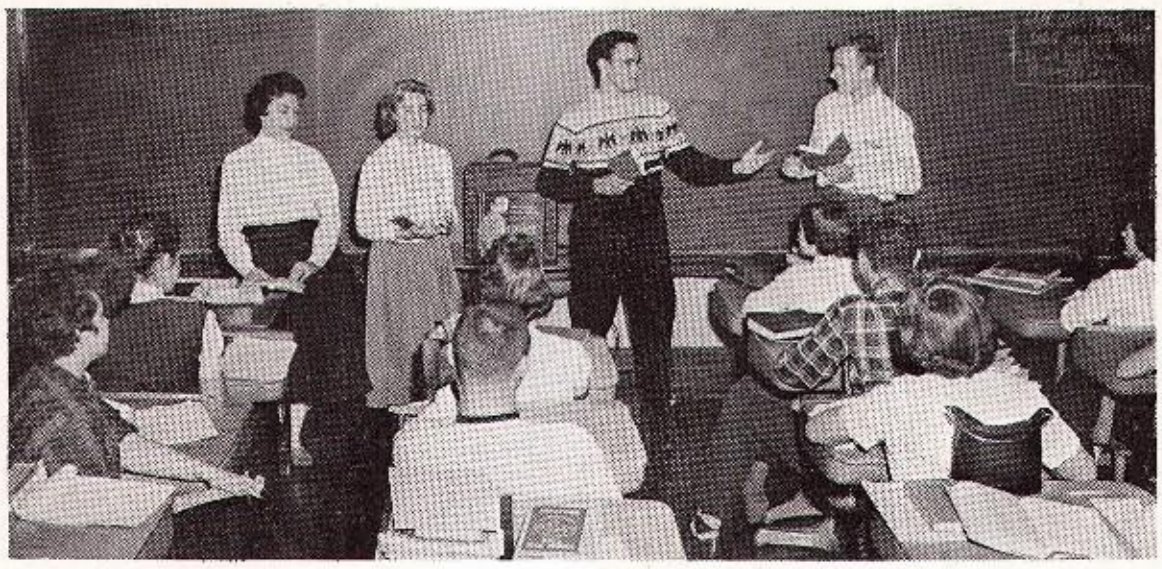
FROM HOMER TO HEMINGWAY

The standards of English which a high school student acquires are likely to be those which will determine his status in his vocation and social life. The objective of our English department, therefore, is to provide the student with a firm background in reading, thinking, listening to, speaking, and writing comprehendible and acceptable English.

The study of grammar and literature constitutes the main portion of the English course. Although we have only a short review of grammar each year, the frequent themes which are required for the course provide an excellent opportunity to apply that grammar in writing effective sentences.

Assistant Librarian Joan Weaver marks books for Ray Fulton and John P. Adam.



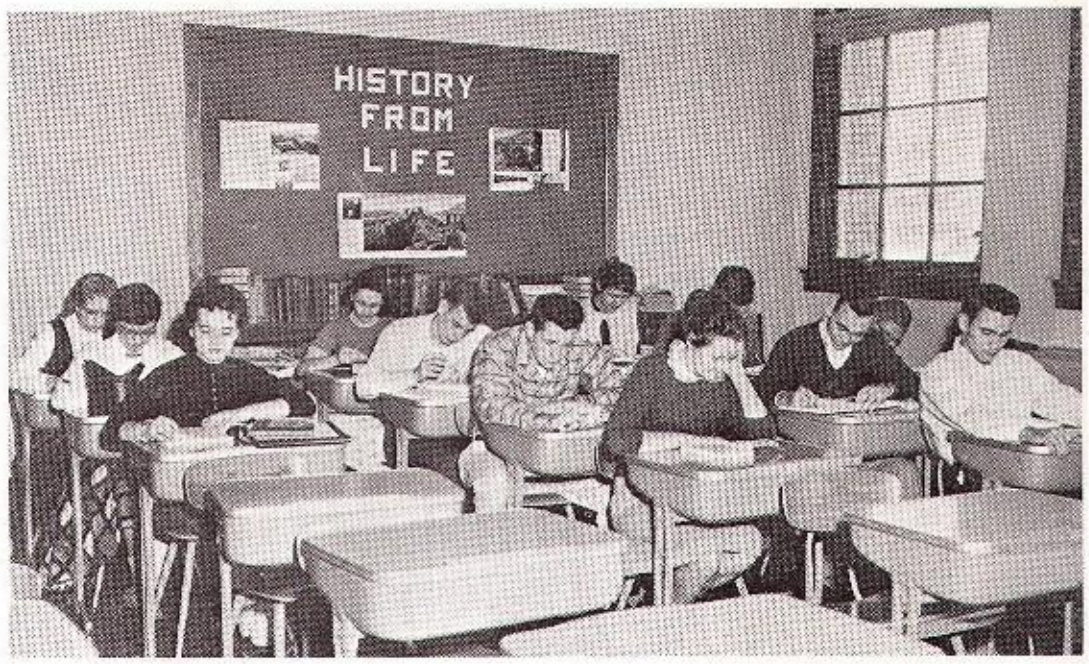


The 12A section learns that "something is rotten in the state of Denmark" as Margaret Stein, Sandra Casselberry, Walter Risley, and Allan Grim portray a scene from Hamlet.

The greater emphasis is placed on literature, American in the junior year and English in the senior year. A study of the development and interpretation of literary ideals and discussions on various examples of all types of works provide the student with a keener interest and a broader background in today's and yesterday's societies.

An advanced composition class is available to pupils who have maintained A or B averages in their regular English courses. This class plunges further into the complex world of rhetoric than do the ordinary sections. The result of their work is a lengthy research paper which is due at the end of the year. Students work hard on these masterpieces, proceeding in much the same manner as college students would use to prepare term papers. Our complete and efficient library proves itself invaluable to this class and to most other sections since it fills practically every need for both junior and senior high pupils. Its complete magazine collection and up-to-date encyclopedias provide accuracy and convenience for the student. We are proud of our English department and of our library, for we feel that they have played a vital part in preparing us for our future life and work.

Mrs. Mary W. Dolan operates our very efficient and complete library.

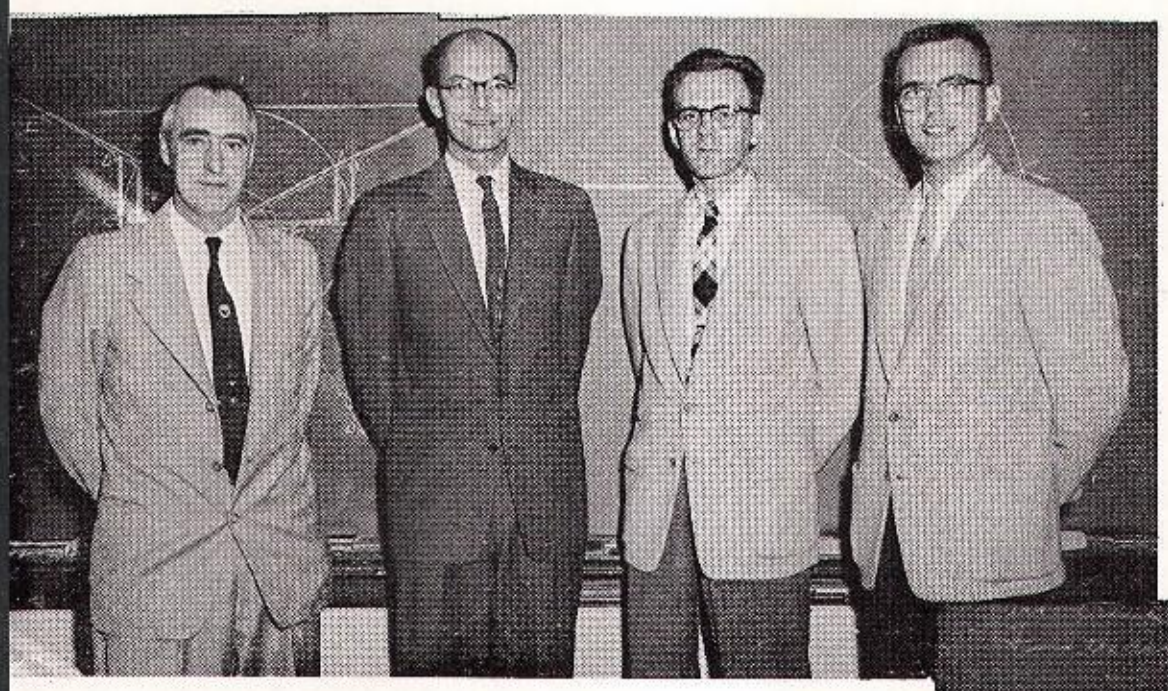


A 12 Academic Problems of Democracy class learns that our country's political and economic structure is a bit more complicated than it would appear at a first glance.

FROM ATHENS TO AMERICA

To be able to learn and profit by other's mistakes is one of the finest advantages of our modern times. We have studied the techniques and characteristics of the ancient and contemporary civilizations in our social studies classes. In tenth grade we reviewed world history, in the junior year we studied American history, and in our senior year we took a course in Problems of Democracy. Our work in all of these classes was supplemented by filmstrips and movies, maps, outside reports, and field trips—Gettysburg in eleventh grade and the Berks County Courthouse in twelfth grade. A novel and interesting project was the sham stock market on which we speculated in our senior year. The daily current events reports and discussions provided an interesting sidelight while they kept us informed on the happenings of the world today.

William E. Moyer, John S. Davies, Paul L. Hunsberger, LeRoy Schollenberger, and Charles Z. Angstadt comprise the Social Studies faculty.



Our mathematics instructors are LeRoy Schollenberger, Richard C. Gougler, J. Richard Wagner, and Charles E. Trafford.

Logs, co-logs, and anti-logs make life difficult for these mathematics students.

OF AXIOMS AND ANGLES

In this era of satellites and outer space, mathematics is continuing to play a prominent part in the future of our country. We are meeting this challenge by making mathematics courses compulsory for all high school students. Academic pupils struggle through algebra, plane geometry, trigonometry, and solid geometry. General students receive a review of mathematics, algebra, plane geometry, trigonometry, and practical mathematics. Commercial students take business and consumer mathematics, and two years of bookkeeping. Vocational students have practical mathematics and a review of mathematics.

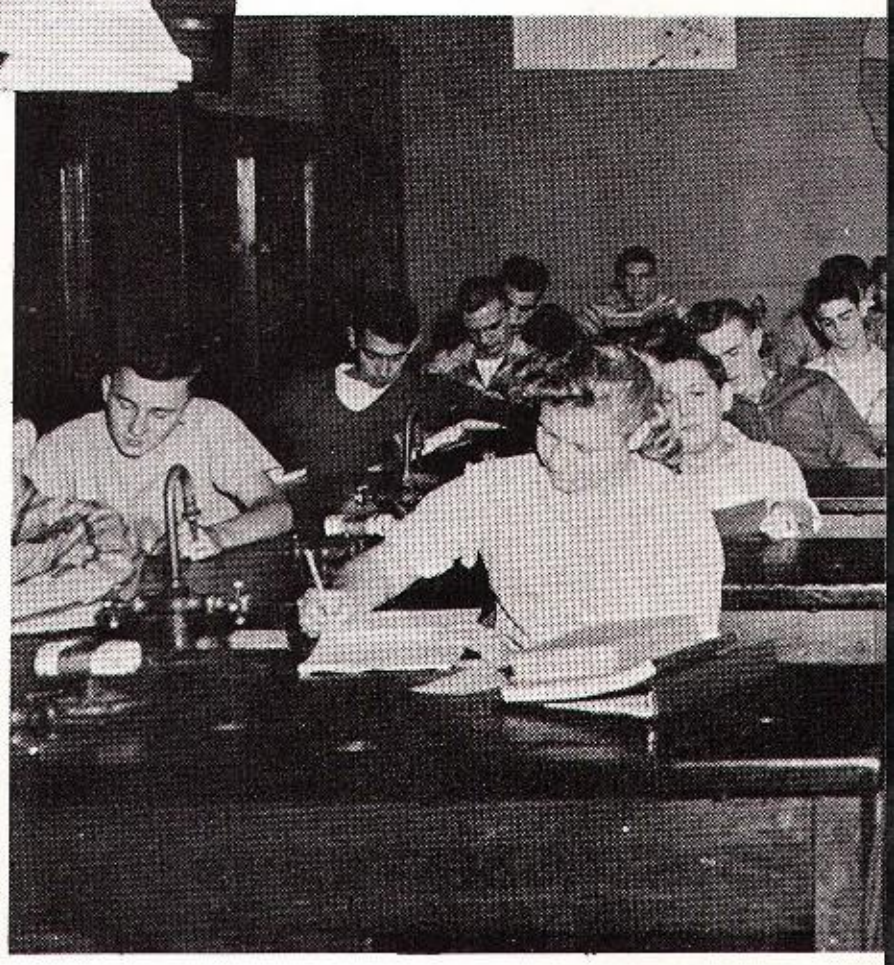
Our advanced mathematics class, available to any of those students who have maintained an A or a B average in their regular academic mathematics courses, is using a college textbook to cover material which the regular classes never study. Most of the students taking this course wish to make that subject their career or plan to use it in their work in a related field. Each year three of this class's members, selected on the basis of mathematics ability and grades, are sent to participate in the Berks County Mathematics Test. This year's delegates were Diana DeRagon, Karen Herring, and Thomas Ludwig.

Our prize math pupils, the advanced mathematics class, are: Standing—Jean Adams, Christine Schucker, Thomas Ludwig, and Arlan Gehman; Seated—Ralph Kramer, Karen Herring, and Diana DeRagon. Mr. Gougler is the instructor.

OF CURRENTS AND COMPOUNDS

Can you remember when that side table wasn't filled with "junk".

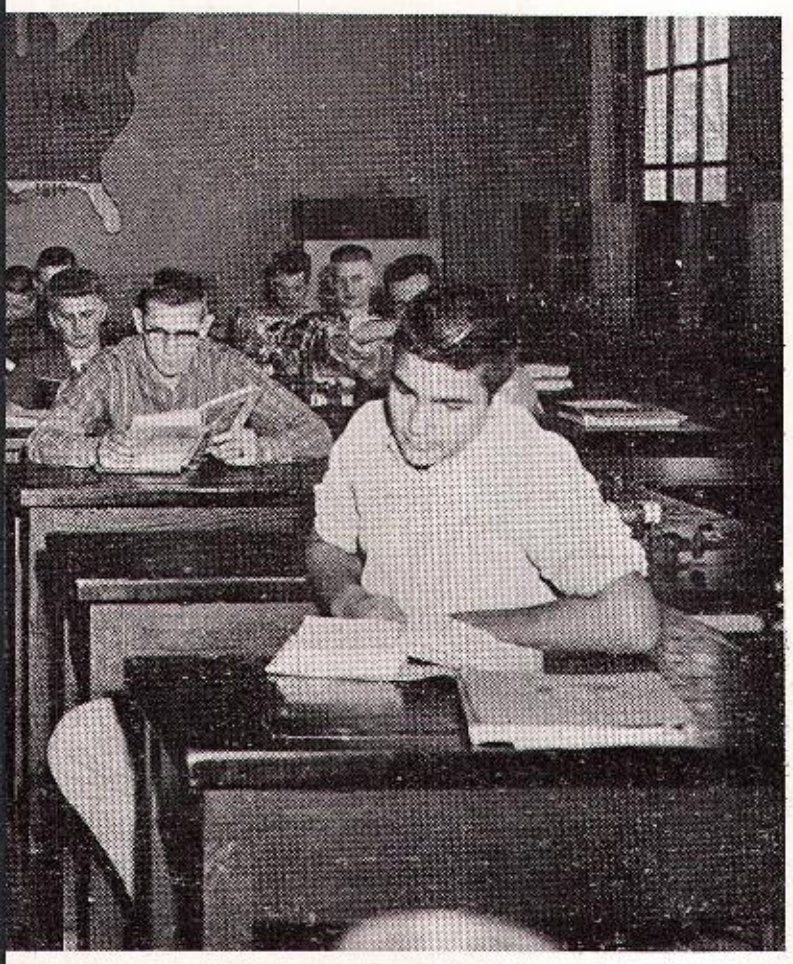
The members of our science department are Charles Z. Angstadt, John E. Rohrbach, Paul L. Hunsberger, and Harold L. Fleisher, Frank L. Keim, who is not pictured, is the head of this department.



Every pupil at KAHS should now know that the room with the history map on the back wall, the stains on the table, and the scars on the ceilings is the science laboratory. Here almost all the high school students have spent much time balancing their chemistry equations, using Ohm's Law to find some unknown electrical resistance, or dissecting poor, unfortunate frogs to find out what makes them tick. From this room also come those distressingly horrible odors which the school has quickly learned to detest. The pupils who concoct them, however, are certainly learning about the world of science, so for the sake of education, we suffer quietly.

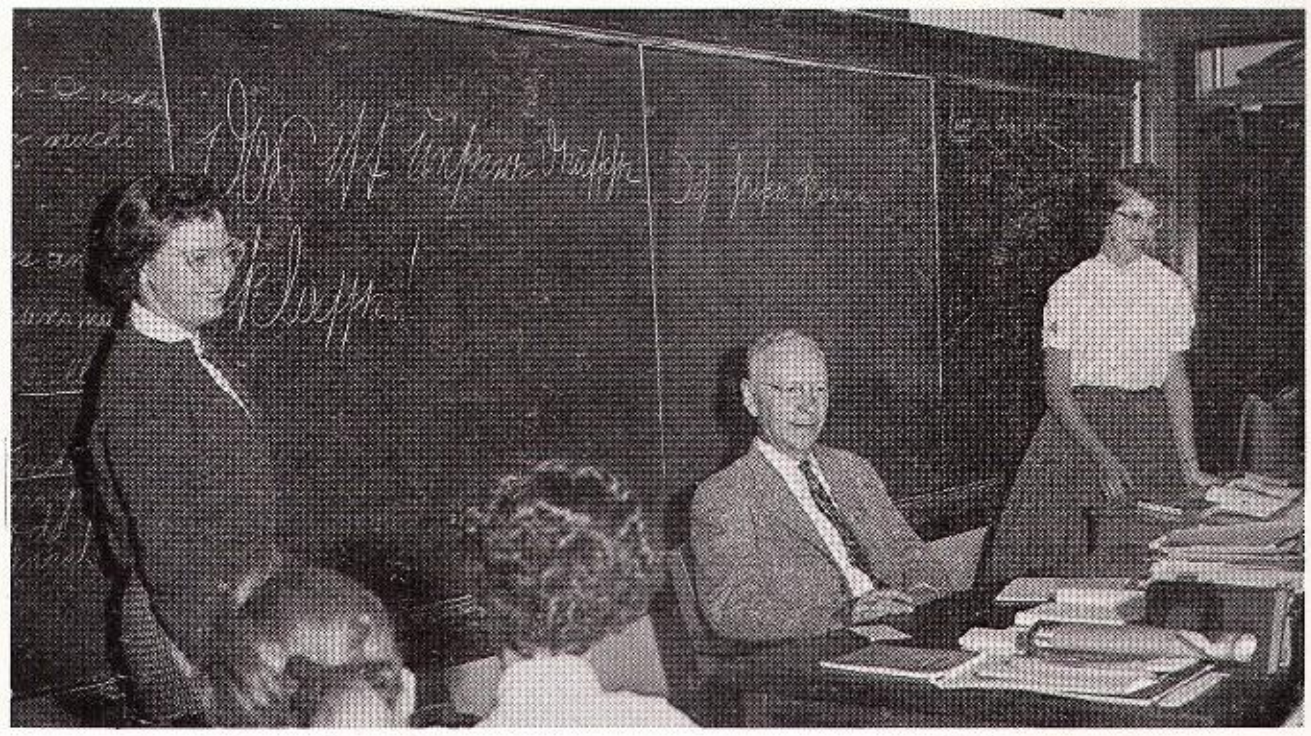
Carol Moll and Sarah Ann Fox decide how much weight has been lost while Mr. Stauffer watches with interest.

Kutztown is aware of the need for scientific education and gives its pupils an extra opportunity to get that education. Physics classes are held for three hours each Thursday evening for interested pupils. The courses offered during the school day include biology, chemistry, and physics. Pupil interest in science fairs is increasing steadily, and several students are planning to attend the various summer seminars which are being held at nearby colleges and high schools. We can all be grateful for the opportunities and advantages which the dedicated members of our science faculty have given us.



12 General students, perched on the stools in the chem. lab, use their spare time wisely.

FROM GOETHE TO GRECO



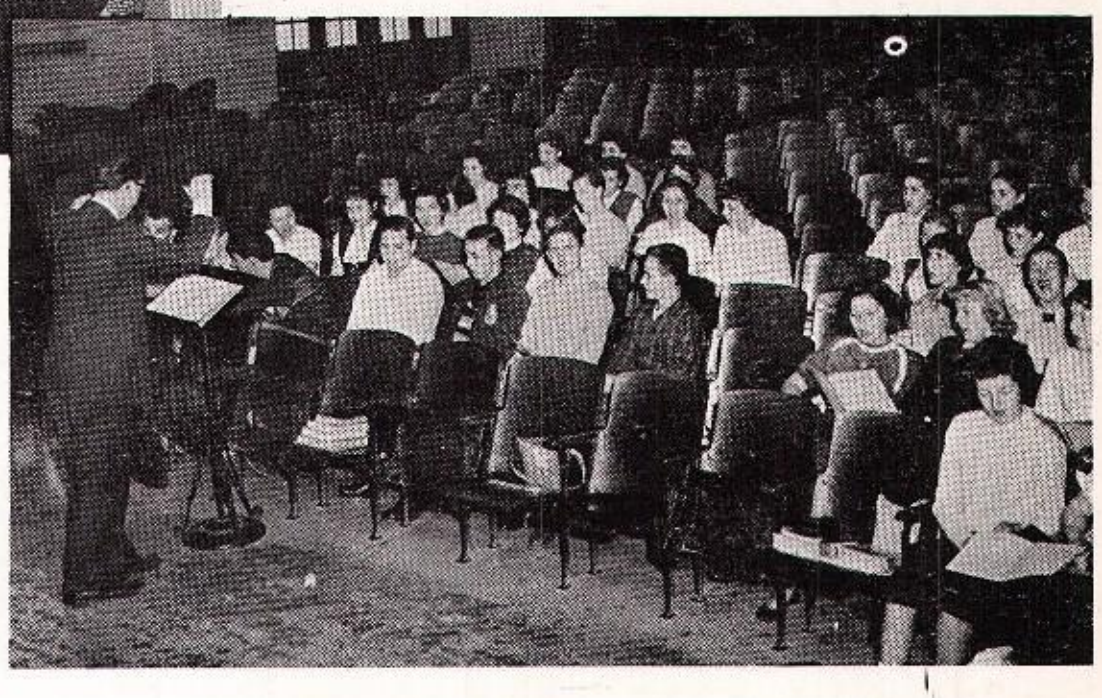
Foreign languages provide the basis for a high school student's spirit of international neighborliness and understanding. Very often a knowledge of a foreign language is essential if a pupil is to become a specialist in a chosen field. By taking advantage of the two-year Latin, German, and Spanish courses which are offered at KAHS, the student acquires a keen insight of the civilization, geography, vocabulary, architecture, and religious and folk beliefs of the various representative nations. Mr. Nevin J. Luckenbill fills the role of head linguist.

OF CARS AND CAREFULNESS

Kutztown Area High School, aware of the tragic number of automobile accidents in recent years, has had a driver education program in its curriculum for five years. Mr. Fleisher, head of the department, teaches the basic requirements of safe and courteous driving. This he accomplishes with visual aids and equipment which test the student's perception, co-ordination, sight, and stability. Practice driving in the 1959 Buick gives the pupil supervised experience. The course is compulsory for all sophomores.

Harold L. Fleisher is our driver education instructor.

Richard G. Wells and William S. Moyer comprise the KAHS music faculty.



One of Mr. Wells' duties is to direct the chorus in bi-weekly rehearsals.

FROM TROMBONES TO TENORS

The Music Department at KAHS has a busy schedule, for its duties include musical instruction for students from grade school age to the senior high school band and chorus members. The faculty gives both class vocal instruction and semi-private instrumental lessons for pupils below the ninth grade level, while senior high school pupils receive instruction from private teachers. Mr. Moyer conducts both a junior and a senior high school band. The other important organization associated with this department is the chorus which is led by Mr. Wells.

The band emblem sports the school motto, "Live pure, speak true, right wrong."

The Home Economics Department is composed of Mrs. Shirley M. Moyer and Mrs. Elizabeth N. Cochrin.

FROM RANGES TO GRANGES

The Home Economics Department conducts a special course for those girls who wish to specialize in homemaking. It is a four year course which gives the girls practical experience in the art of homemaking and prepares them for their future home life.

The curriculum includes work in designing and making clothes, planning and decorating homes, planning menus and cooking, demonstration work, home nursing, and personal and family budgeting of finances. The course sponsors the Future Homemakers of America which encourages participation in civic and social activities.

"A stitch in time" saves the 10 Vocational girls from a failing mark in home economics.

11 Vocational girls make use of the work areas in the cafeteria.

OF TURNIPS AND TRACTORS

Jack W. Schonely and Kenneth W. Staver instruct boys in the Vocational Agriculture Course.

Since the four year vocational agriculture course was first included in our program of studies in 1942, it has been very successful. It is particularly useful since Kutztown lies in the center of one of the most fertile agriculture regions of Pennsylvania.

The primary aim of instruction for this course is to prepare rural boys for proficiency in farming and its allied vocations.

The curriculum includes classroom work, laboratory work, farm mechanics, and field trips. It includes all the major animal and crop enterprises common to this area. Through evening classes this course helps adult farmers achieve greater efficiency in farming.

Also sponsored by this course is the Future Farmers of America which promotes leadership and a love for country life and farming.

James Hartranft, LaRoy Haas, and Roy Sousley touch up some equipment in the ag shop.

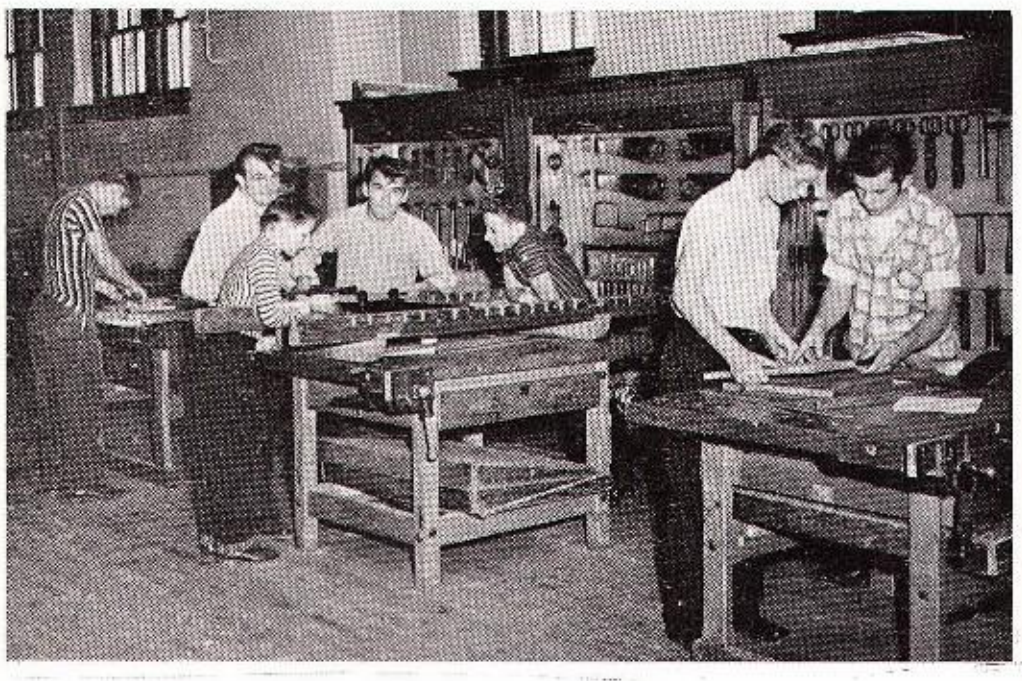
Richard Rabenold and Warren Wessner try raising some "young uns."

John F. Dreibelbis and Herman A. Mock instruct pupils in the fine and industrial arts.

OF COLOR AND CREATIVENESS

The arts program at KAHS is an elective for senior high school students. In direct contrast to the planned class projects which were typical of junior high school art classes, students who elect senior high art are free to choose and work on projects which suit their individual tastes. Leather work, oil painting, and the making of jewelry seem to be the favorite choices of most students.

Industrial arts are also elected by senior high school students. The boys have their choice of the shop, the mechanical drawing, and the welding classes.



The shop in the basement is a favorite spot for many of the high school boys.

A seventh grade art class works on its projects as Mr. Dreibelbis gives his opinions and suggestions.

"1-2-3-4" echoes through the gym as Nancy Mengel leads a class.

Our capable physical education instructors are John Silan and Sara K. Saul.

OF CALISTHENICS AND COMPETITION

Physical fitness is an essential phase of our student life. Under the supervision of Mr. Silan, the boys' physical training program attempts to give every boy at least one period per week of physical exercise and team competition. A typical gym class begins with roll call after which the participants take a position for calisthenics. One of the boys leads the class in these exercises. The remainder of the period is then used for sports competition in volleyball, softball, basketball, soccer, touch football, and sometimes wrestling.

The girls' physical education classes provide many happy hours for our girls under the competent instruction of Mrs. Saul. They participate in hockey, soccer, softball, and basketball, and the volleyball net is constantly in use after it has been put up in the early spring. During the last week of every month the girls practice social dancing. We are proud of the interest which almost all boys and girls at KAHS display in sports participation.

The KAHS nurse, Mary W. Koch, is in her health office to render emergency treatment and to conduct routine check-ups.

Has an aversion for P.O.D.
But Projector Club films he likes to see.

Projector Club 1, 2, 3.

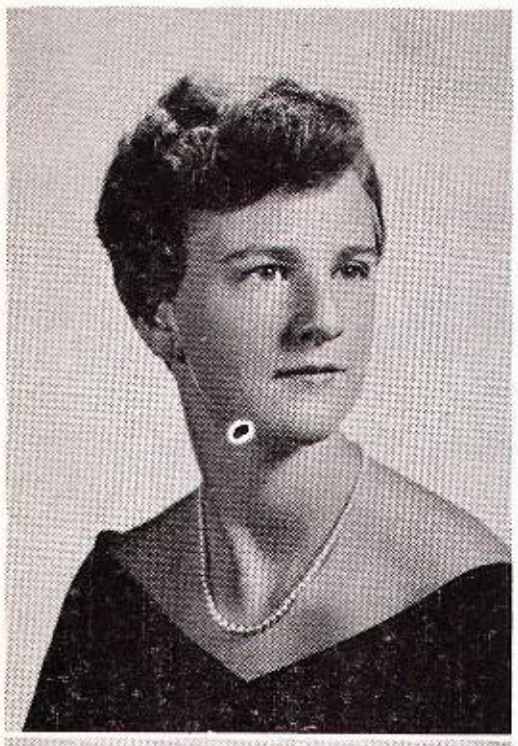
Sandra Lou Gambler

VOCATIONAL

Lyon Station

Sandra is our shortest lass,
But don't let that fact fool you;
Dancing's really in her class,
She likes pop records, too.

Chorus 2, 3; Tri-Hi-Y 1; F.H.A. 2, 3.



Dorothy E. Gaumer
VOCATIONAL
Kutztown

Her friends call her Dot;
She likes sports alot;
She's sometimes quiet, sometimes shy,
But still always manages a "hi."

BUSINESS EDUCATION

Kutztown

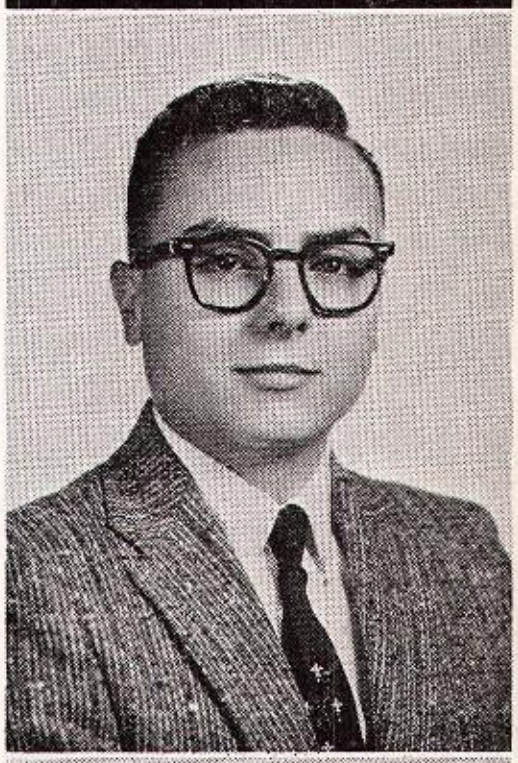
She plays bass clarinet and she sings in the choir,
She possesses the skills all good secretaries require;
Painting and horses are some of her joys.
She's always friendly—but not full of noise.

Band 1, 2, 3; Chorus 1; F.B.L.A. 1, 2, 3; Library Assistant 1.



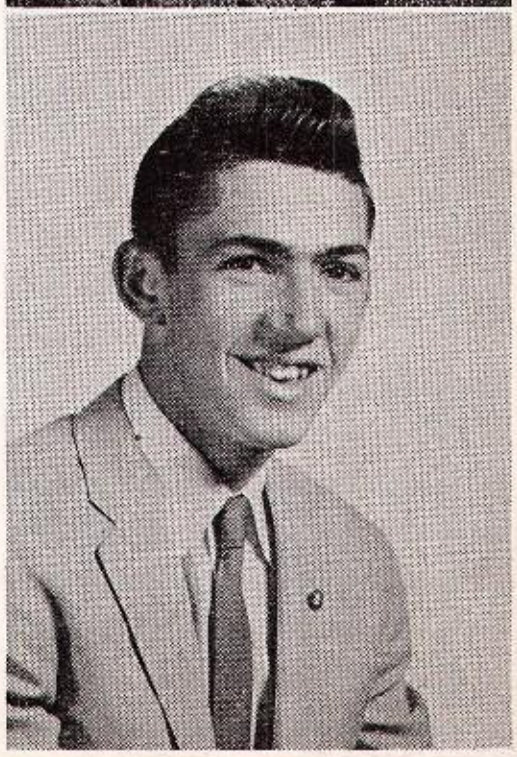
Kerry W. Guinther

GENERAL

Mertztown, R.D.

Mechanical drawing he enjoys very much
But for speeches he has not a very good touch;
He likes to watch those soccer games
And when hunting, he often makes good his aims.

Student Council 1; Shop Club 1, 2, 3.



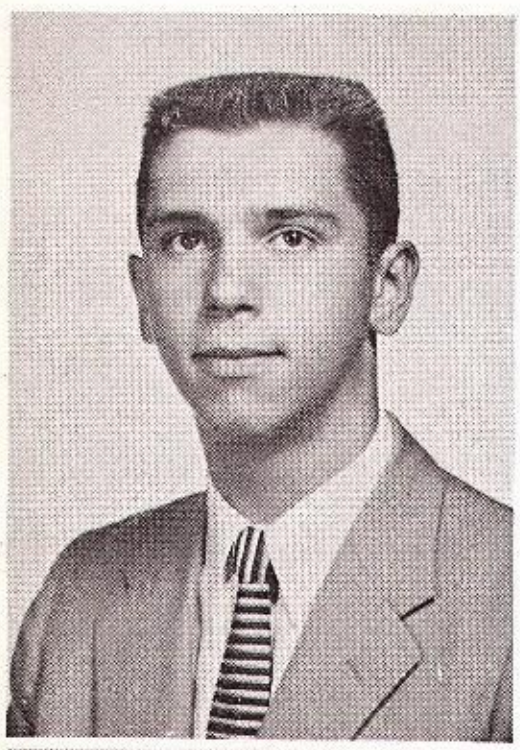
LaRoy I. Haas

VOCATIONAL

Maxatawny

LaRoy's a decided rock and roll fan,
But does he like to read—not this young man;
To many of his friends it's no surprise
When his animals win a fine fat first prize.

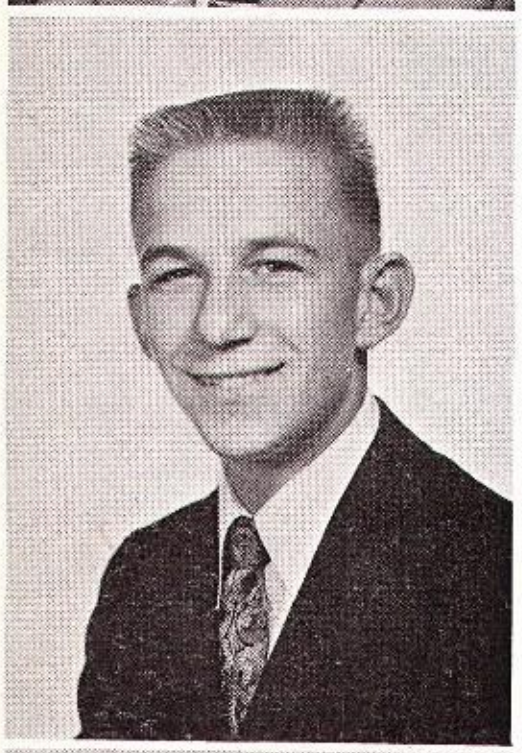
Chorus 1; Student Council 2; F.F.A. 1, 2, President 3; Keystone Farmer 3.



Leonard J. Haring
GENERAL
Lyon Station

John fishes streams from dawn to dusk
And catches the fish he thinks he must;
Those flies he ties in quite a jiffy
For the fish to take, always look very spiffy.

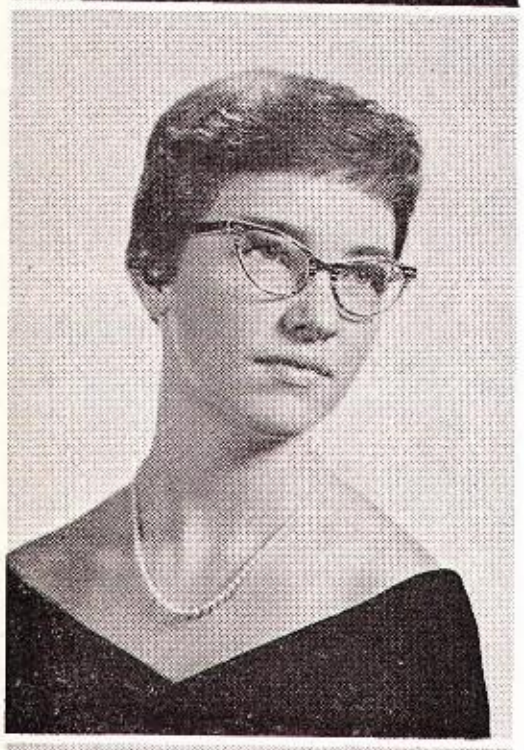
Hall Patrol 3; Fly-tying 1, 2, President 3.



James P. Hartranft
VOCATIONAL
Kutztown R.D.

Fishing, hunting and baseball, too,
Are some of the things "Hartranft" likes to do:
He's active in school and in F.F.A.
And hopes to be a good farmer some day.

F. F. A. 1, 2, 3.



Barbara L. Hassler
ACADEMIC

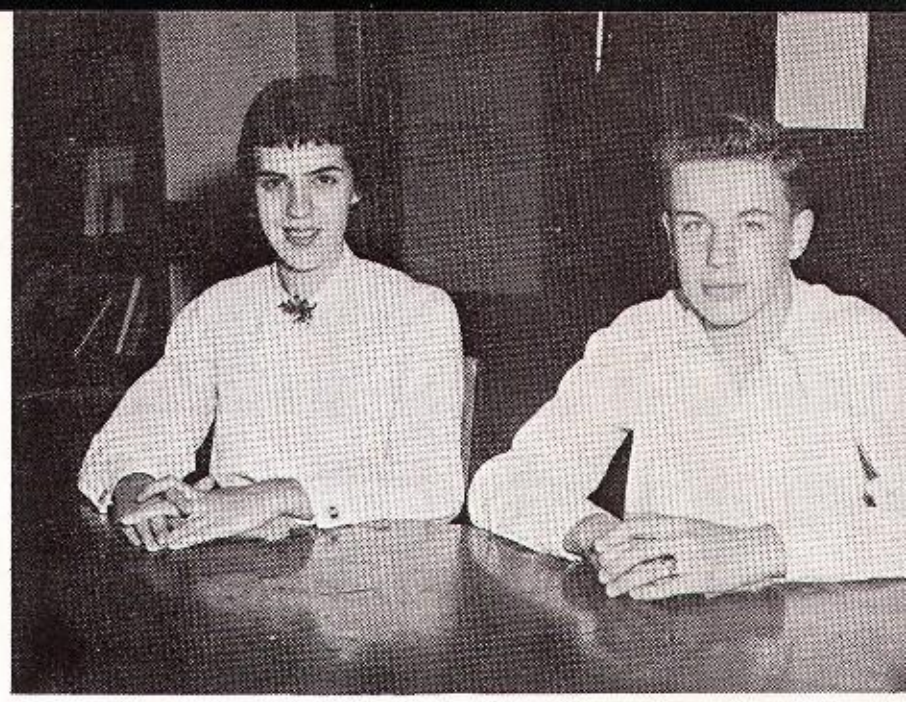
Mr. and Miss KAHS, the best all-around students, are Jean Adams and William Fenstermacher.

Elected as the Most Likely to Succeed were Thomas Ludwig and Sara Ann Beekey.



SENIOR SURVEY

Without stretching the truth one bit, Diana DeRagon and Colin Heffley were selected as the Most Flirtatious.

Walter Risley and Jean Adams were selected as the Most Attractive Boy and Girl.

The Best Dancers in the senior class are Arlene Arndt and Donald Christ.

There can be no doubt about the fact that our Class Comics are Leo Young and Carol Kuhns.

The Most Outstanding Athletes are Stanley Saul and Carol Kuhns.

"Yap, yap, yap" is constantly heard from our Best Talkers, Ray Seidel and Sandra Moyer.

Elected as the Best Musicians were Gene Stump and Margo Epting.

The Most Bashful Seniors are Lloyd Kehl and Mary Reimert.

Philip Scheidt and Sandra Gambler were found to be the Tallest and Shortest.

Everyone should now know that Colin Heffley and Carol Moll are the Latest and Most Punctual Seniors.

We did it! Our class sold more than enough tickets for our class play, written and directed by Mr. Gougler and presented on Thursday and Friday, November 20 and 21. In fact, extra chairs were put in the auditorium and standing room was available. This was the first time in a number of years that no tickets were available at the door.

The plot of the play involved Annejeanette Holben, a wealthy girl of twenty-three who left home and took an apartment with her Aunt Claris because her parents wanted her to marry a man whom she had not met. She became acquainted with some show people who were trying to get a play ready for Broadway; they tried to help solve her problem.

We had loads of fun at rehearsals—especially watching the wrestlers, Lola, "Auntie" and Mrs. Holben (her professional fall).

Some of the many things that made "May I Come In?" different were the dances which included a ballet, the Charleston, and the Can Can; and the "three ring" third act which included such extras as the wrestlers, the chorus girls and the jazz combo.

We owe our greatest thanks to our wonderful director. Others who should receive credit and thanks are Mr. Moyer and the KAHS Band, who rendered the music; Mr. Dietrich, who was in charge of the programs; Mrs. Lannon, who endured the problems of the ticket sale and was in charge of the usherettes, and Mr. Dreibelbis and Mr. Mock, who made possible the beautiful scenery. Others who helped to make our play a success were the prompters, the make-up assistants, the sound crew, the stage crew, the program assistants, and ticket sellers.

CLASS MOTTO

"To strive, to seek, to find, but not to yield."

CLASS COLORS

Brown and Tan

CLASS FLOWER

White Rose

Our class officers and sponsors guided us through our complicated high school years and somehow managed to keep things right side up. Through their patience and leadership we conducted several very successful bake sales, Italian sandwich sales, and dances. Their efforts may not always have been publicly recognized, but they certainly were sincerely appreciated.

ALMA MATER

Kutztown Area High School,
Love you we always shall;
And when our thoughts seem blue,
We'll think of you;
Nor can we e'er forget
All that was done and said
Within your hallowed walls,
Sacred to us.

In turn of life's road
We'll meet with care and strife,
But to thy trust we'll cling
Taught in High School.
Your flag, marine and white,
We'll always keep in sight,
And, thus, from year to year,
We'll remember you.

—Grace Snyder, '23

Senior Class Advisers: Mr. Dietrich, Mr. Davies, Mr. Angstadt, Mr. Hehr.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

. . . Larry Moyer took Mr. Mock's jigsaw apart during shop class?
. . . one of Mr. Gougler's student teachers thought that Roger Kutz was so-o-o cute?
. . . Mr. Hehr told 12G, "If you don't have it done, you'll get the ax"?
. . . 12G, headed by Norm Behler, printed their own Ku-Hi-Nu's?

. . . the physics class donated Robert Schoedler money to buy light bulbs?
. . . Colin Heffley came to school on time?
. . . Philip Scheidt came to school?
. . . Saul, Scheidt, Risley, Stump, and Bucks decided to do without the Latin II review and do with some of Dan Kline's spaghetti?

. . . the 12C girls had private devotions?
. . . Mrs. Held said to Jay Koenig, "If you don't soon stop talking, I'll slam you; as a matter of fact, I think I will." She did.
. . . Mr. Angstadt shocked us by using "fathom" instead of "depth"?
. . . it evidently was fishing and hunting season in 12G?

. . . Carol Moll didn't know the words for a German test?
. . . Philip Scheidt sent smoke signals by burning wood on the jigsaw?
. . . the 12C girls hid Mrs. Held's purse and keys?
. . . Pat, Arlene, and Jay put lollipops in the fish bowl in Mr. Rohrbach's room?

. . . we took those midnight trips to Mr. Hehr's house?
. . the "12th Grade Cookie Snatchers" had a meeting in the kitchen during their Italian sandwich sale?
. . . Mr. Angstadt didn't believe in the Easter Bunny and wouldn't collect his eggs?
. . . Mr. Luckenbill found a crayfish foot in his aqueduct?

. . . Terry Bucks toured Hartman's fields with his Studebaker?
. . . Mr. Angstadt didn't answer the door by saying, "Yes?"
. . . Mr. Davies didn't say, "Evidently you have nothing to do"?
. . . Mrs. Held escorted John and Jay to the office?
. . . we sprayed Mr. Keim's hair with Diana's spray net?

SOCCER

Although the KAHS soccer team finished in only fourth place this past season, their fans still witnessed several exciting games, since our boys did not give up easily. The Cougar team, under the coaching of John S. Davies, compiled a record of five wins, four ties, and three losses.

The team, however, was not without recognition and honor, for they were the recipients of the 7-Up Trophy for their display of good sportsmanship. Bill Fenstermacher, the team's highest scoring man, booted eighteen of our twenty-eight goals and was subsequently named to the Berks County All-Star Soccer Team for the third consecutive year.

☆ STATE CHAMPS ☆

Through hard work, constant practice, more of both, and the masterful mind of Coach John Silan, Kutztown High's greatest basketball team developed. The Cougars climaxed the perfectly successful season with the winning of the Class B State Championship by defeating West Middlesex at Westminster College in New Wilmington, Pennsylvania. Moreover, they were the only undefeated high school team in the state, their final record being 29-0.

This team could do anything and do it right, since each teammate played to the best of his ability and sought to correct his every mistake. No defense set up by any opponent was able to throttle Kutztown's offensive attack. With a "tortoise and hare" style offense, Kutztown penetrated other teams' defenses, displaying a fast breaking offense which could suddenly and purposely be changed into one of slowed-down, deliberate tactics, and vice versa. The Cougars' defense was by no means a weakness; it was an impervious, switching man-for-man, obstacle to rivals. Fans will not fail to remember the "surprise" zone defense against Columbia or the shackling of Ron Krick of West Reading in the Berks County Championship game.

Kutztown's games were witnessed by great numbers of loyal rooters, including fans from nearby localities or just average basketball followers who wanted to see our superb team in action. In addition, our peppy sextette of cheerleaders and the tremendously well known basketball tradition of our school gave the team an abundance of moral support.

The seniors who contributed to the team's success in profile are:

Philip Scheidt—Phil, the high jumping senior who led the club in scoring and rebounding, was named to the All-County team.

Stanley Saul—"Mouse" dribbled through and around opponents, headed the backcourt brilliantly, and guarded par excellence, all of which earned him a position on the All-County team.

Dennis DeTurk—An unheralded performer, "Smokey" frequently made decisive gestures that aided in victory, while performing in the backcourt, passing, and maneuvering to set up the plays.

Gene Stump—"Nemo," the big-handed lad who seemed to thrive by sitting out the opening tapoffs, came off the bench to spark the Cougars down that last, long stretch.

Glenroy Wiltrout — Glenroy, who saw little action in the playoffs, was a part of our top-rate bench.

BASEBALL

The Northern Division Champs of 1958 and Berks County Finalists, the Cougars once again looked forward to a successful season. The majority of the starting line-up for the first few games was composed of seniors who had several years of experience. Captain David Mertz, last year's Berks County Batting Champion, led the team at second and continued his marvelous hitting at the plate; Gene Stump, playing third base, provided power at the plate; Stan Saul, an outfielder, proved a nemesis to opponents by getting on base and stealing frequently; behind the plate Daniel Smith performed very adequately with the catching glove; on the mound Mace Arndt continued his hard throwing; Allan Grim guarded center field aptly; at shortstop Dennis DeTurk protected Kutztown's defense and when at the plate, he blasted out base hits with finesse; Bill Fenstermacher covered first base and when batting, he used his power to the best advantage. With a team such as this, we are again expecting to have an exciting season.

CHEERLEADERS

Our basketball season could never have been as successful as it was if it had not been for the loyal Kutztown fans who were led in their cheering efforts by six varsity and six junior varsity cheerleaders. The varsity team's mascot was a cougar named "Cheekua." The animal was bedecked with blue and white ribbons on which "State Champs" was written at the end of the marvelous season. The girls sported white corduroy jumpers, navy blouses and socks, and white bucks, and always presented an eye-catching appearance to the cheering sections. The junior varsity leaders wore white blouses and navy jumpers with "JV" on the skirt. These girls played an important part in helping our junior varsity have such a successful season.

BOLT AND BORE

The Bolt and Bore Club provides competition for senior high boys who are interested in improving their marksmanship. The club's primary objective is to teach its members safety in the application of fire arms. The boys are taught how to shoot from the various positions, and they then apply their learning in competition with other teams. The four top shooters, Doug Abel, James Brosch, Darryl Diehl, and Ralph Kramer, represent the team in local, state, and national matches.

The Bolt and Bore members are eligible for National Rifle Association and Department of Civilian Marksmanship ratings. In intraclub competition, Ralph Kramer won the club's first place honors. On a wider scope, in six league meets and three non-league matches, the club won five and lost four. The representatives also placed fourth in the Scholastic Class A State Championship match and fourth in the West Chester Sectional of the National Junior Championship matches.

THE COUGAR STAFF

The Cougar staff was organized in the early part of the school year, and work began soon afterwards. Two of the staff members attended a convention at Boyertown High School and returned with invaluable tips on writing copy, taking pictures, and editing a yearbook. These tips became important when, after a few sessions at our adviser's home, we gradually put everything together to give you The 1959 Cougar.

JUNIORS

The juniors on our Cougar staff, Janet Dunkelberger, Sue Fisher, Judy Smith, and Cyrus Beekey, Jr. are learning the basic yearbook techniques of cropping and scaling pictures and organizing copy and layout. These ambitious young people are helping not only us, but also themselves by learning the processes involved in preparing and editing a yearbook.

Seated: Judy Smith, Cyrus Beekey, Jr., Sue Fisher. Standing: Mr. Hehr, Adviser.

KU-HI-NU

The Ku-Hi-Nu fosters school spirit, sportsmanship and scholarship. The staff, under the leadership of Sarah Ann Fox, editor, is constantly on the alert for interesting, timely, and amusing news for its monthly publication. This year the staff prepared a special victory issue in celebration of our victory as Class B Champs.

At the beginning of each year the Ku-Hi-Nu conducts a membership campaign, awarding a trophy to the homeroom which sells the most subscriptions. The record for these victories is held by the 12 General homeroom. All senior high school students who are interested in journalism and creative writing are invited to join the staff.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council plays an important part in our school. Organized to coordinate the activities of our school, it meets once a week under the supervision of Mrs. Lannon. Under her guidance the members learn about student government and the problems of running an efficient school. The officers for the council are chosen by the student body in the spring of the year and serve during the following term, while the representatives and the alternates are chosen in the fall.

The Student Council organizes the senior high school hall patrol and annually sponsors a record hop for the student body.

HALL PATROL

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS

The library assistants, one of the school's essential service groups, voluntarily serve during their study periods as a librarian's extra hands. Amid the noises of closing filing cabinets, sliding chairs, and turning pages, these assistants help to maintain the efficiency of our library by stamping books and library passes, and by shelving the returned books.

DEBATE TEAM

"What Systems of Education Would Be Best for the United States?" was the topic of the debate discussions held in March. Brandywine Heights, Fleetwood Joint, and Kutztown Area High Schools comprised the discussion triangle. The phases discussed were the goals of education, the ideas of the masses versus the elite, and the features of the American, English, French, and Russian education systems.

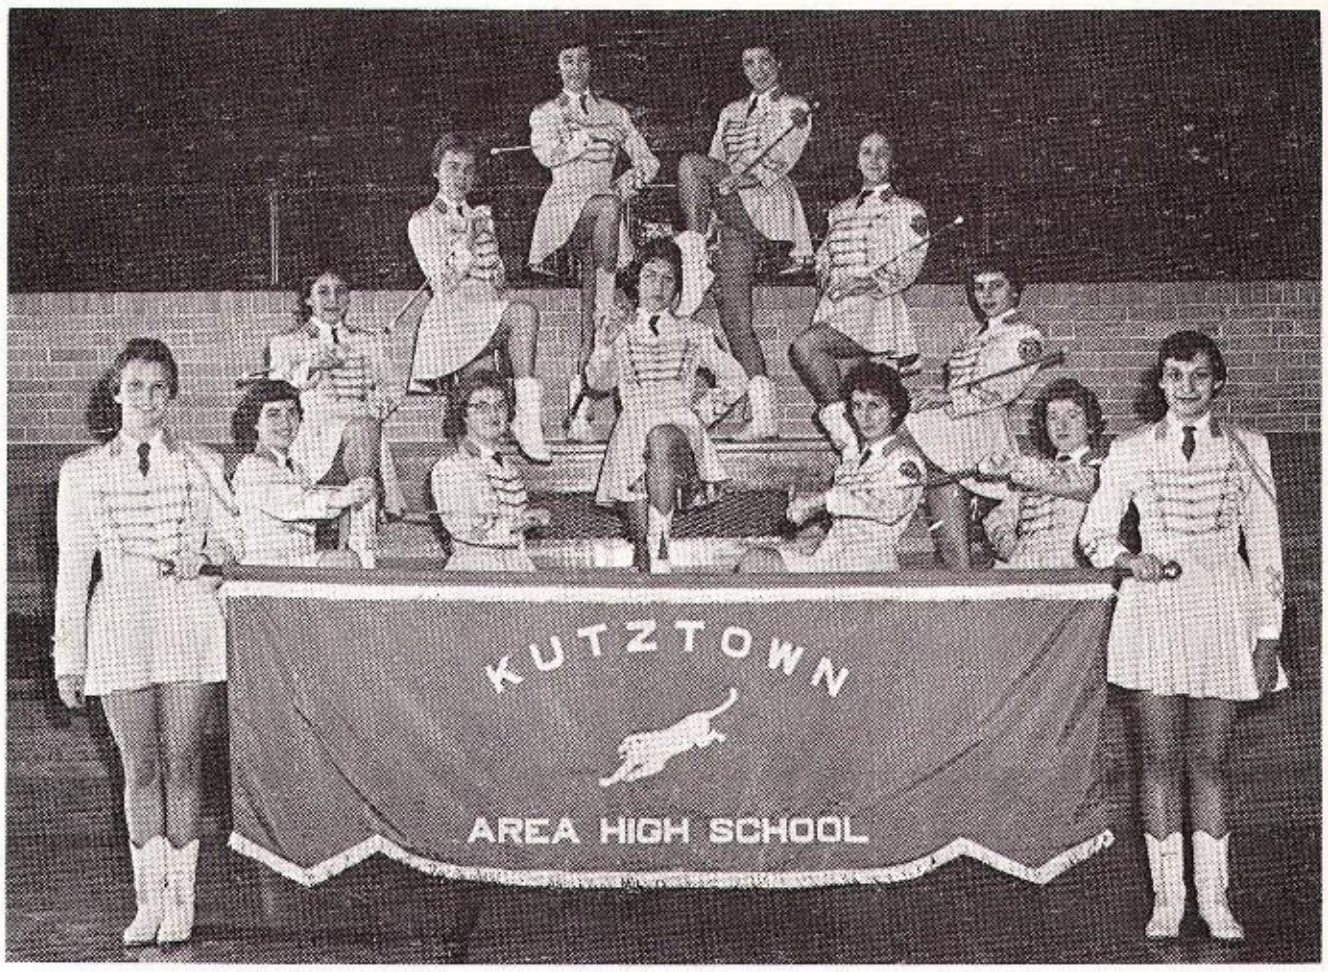
CONCERT BAND

Undoubtedly one of the finest non-athletic organizations in our school is the Kutztown Area High School Band, composed of more than one hundred boys and girls. Under the direction of William S. Moyer, it meets for practice on Tuesday and Thursday mornings and on Monday evenings. In addition to its semi-annual concerts, the band also plays at certain school functions and at all assemblies. It continues its weekly rehearsals during the summer months when there is always a demand for its presence at various Sunday School picnics and festivals. Although it is primarily a concert band, the organization does accept parade jobs on Halloween, Memorial Day, and other special occasions when a marching corps is desired. Interested and talented musicians are selected each year to participate in County Band, Eastern District Band, and State Band.



Bannerbearers: Merrily Leibensperger, Shirley Levan.

MAJORETTES AND COLOR GUARDS

The KAHS band is preceded by six color guards, eleven majorettes, and t banner bearers. The color guards wear the regular band uniform while the ma ettes and banner bearers wear white uniforms decorated with gold braid a buttons. The band has always been lucky to have such lovely twirlers and ban bearers. Our color guards, too, present a very dignified appearance while filling the job of protecting our flags.

CHORUS

The senior high chorus, under the direction of Richard G. Wells, is one of the major outlets for the vocal talents of our students. The group meets on Monday and Wednesday mornings to rehearse for the joint band and chorus concerts which are held each spring. As in previous years the school was represented at the county, the district, and the state chorus festivals.

Mr. Wells' chorus accompanists are Margo Epting and Marie Gift.

SENIOR TRI-HI-Y

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character." These are the words any girl who is a member of the Tri-Hi-Y Club would speak if asked the purpose of her club.

A spring fashion show, sponsored by Furst's Fashion Shop, two talent shows, group discussions, and numerous films and speakers were a few of the programs presented throughout the year. On the two days before Easter vacation, the club sponsored twenty-minute church services before the school day began. They were conducted by the Reverends Robert F. Harting and Carlton L. Heckman.

The highlights of the year was the annua semi-formal held in December. This year the dance, FATHOM FANTASY, echoed the beauty of underwater fantasia. The lavish decorations included a treasure filled chest amid rocks, an underwater scene painted on a mural, a sunken ship, fishnets, and several varieties of fish hung from the blue and green crepe paper ceiling. Foamy lime sherbet and gingerale punch further extended the theme. Another memorable calendar event for the club was the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet in May. Induction of the new officers followed the delicious dinner.

Each year the Tri-Hi-Y raises funds for the International World Service, an organization which extends high standards of Christian character throughout the world. This year club members sold school jewelry, which included Cougar charms, pennant pins, and school keys. Other projects included the selling of World Service Thin Mints, and decorated carnations for the playoff basketball games. A cakeless bake sale also boosted the club's coffers.

While the Tri-Hi-Y aims to present the teaching of Christianity to high school girls, the Hi-Y strives to extend the same principles to high school boys. Bi-monthly meetings are held in various town buildings.

The presentation of the Thanksgiving Assembly, featuring Reverend Scheirer of Pottstown, was one of the main activities of this year's group. During the Christmas holidays the boys participated in the Seventh Annual Lehigh Valley Invitational Hi-Y Basketball Tournament in Easton, and won the first-place trophy. The intermingling of religion and recreation have made this club an important element in the school's activity program.

SHOP CLUB

The shop club is composed of a number of industrious boys who are interested in wood working. The object of the club is to teach the boys dexterity in the making of wood products and in the application of the proper tools. During the club period the boys work toward the completion of their projects. The boys are expertly instructed by Mr. Mock, adviser, who also manages the affairs of the club.

BOYS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Boys' Athletic Association, composed of boys who participate on the school's various athletic teams, conducts a variety of interesting events. During the school term many well-qualified speakers present information which may help an athlete in his future life and work. The organization gives an annual Christmas party for its members, sponsors the basketball games, purchases some of the athletic equipment, and conducts a ping-pong tournament. Each year the members look forward to seeing a double-header basketball game at the University of Pennsylvania's Palestra in Philadelphia and a Phillies baseball game at the Connie Mack Stadium.

This year's officers were Dennis DeTurk, President; William Fenstermacher, Vice-president; William Yoder, Secretary-Treasurer.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Girls' Athletic Association is an organization for students who are interested in athletic competition. Some of the activities included are volleyball and softball games between teams chosen by the captains, the sponsoring of a dance in the spring of the year, and the selling of Cougar pins and pencils. The club also shared some of the cheerleaders' expenses. The group's officers this year were Patricia Lessig—President, Edna Heydt—Vice-president, Jean Adams—Secretary, and Carol Kuhns—Treasurer.

ROYAL COACHMAN FLY-TYING CLUB

Mr. Keim gives his fly-tying club some inside tips on fishing during one of their meetings.

The Royal Coachman Fly-tying Club is composed of a number of boys who possess an earnest desire to become better fishermen. These members receive expert instruction in the art of fly-tying from Mr. Keim, the club adviser. The boys are also taught better equipment maintenance and fishing techniques. An annual duty of the members is to stock fish in the various local streams each spring. Soon after the opening of the season in April, the fishermen compete in the club's big fish contest. To climax the year's activities, the club takes a two-day fishing excursion to Fisherman's Paradise.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

Standing: Robert Benner, Janet Lesher, Phyllis Eyer, Nancy Ludwig, Nancy Hamsher, Gary Keller, Carole Zettlemoyer, Gary Strouse, Janice Tryon, Sabilla Young.

The Photography Club provides the ideal opportunity for the amateur cameraman to improve his skill and knowledge of the photographer's art. During the club periods, the members take, develop, and enlarge their own pictures. Mr. Angstadt, the adviser, instructs the club in the fundamental principles of this art.

PROJECTOR CLUB

The Projector Club was organized for boys who like to see movies. It meets on the appointed days and watches full length feature films during the lunch hour and club periods.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

The primary aim of the Future Farmers of America is the development of good agriculture leadership, co-operation, and citizenship. Members have a splendid opportunity to learn how to deal effectively with themselves as well as with others. Since the organization of the Kutztown Chapter in 1942, rural boys have come to recognize and appreciate the educational and recreational activity offered by the F.F.A.

The club's varied program this year has included two trips to Harrisburg to attend the Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition and the Farm Show, a visit to the New Holland Machine Corporation, and numerous other local trips. The Future Farmers not only work well together, but they also know how to provide organized recreation for themselves and for others in the community. The F.F.A. provides ample opportunity for games, sports, and other recreational activities which appeal to the farm boy. The intramural baseball games, the annual Father and Son Banquet, and the Snowball Frolic are certainly memorable events.

The Keystone Farmer Degree, a state award for boys with outstanding project programs, leadership, and co-operation, was awarded to Richard Rabenold and LaRoy Haas. The officers who so ably served the club this year were LaRoy Haas, President; Richard Mertz, Vice-president; Rudolf Winkler, Secretary; Richard Rabenold, Treasurer; Earl Leiby, Chaplain; Warren Wessner, Reporter; Lloyd Green, Sentinel; Leo Young, Corresponding Secretary; and Kenneth W. Staver and Jack W. Schonley, Advisers.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

The Kutztown Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America is but one branch of the national organization of girls studying homemaking in high schools throughout the United States and its territories. The members learn how to deal more effectively with everyday problems and how to get along with themselves and with others. The girls also put to practical use their courses in sewing, cooking, interior decorating, child care and leadership.

Our Kutztown Chapter, which is open only to girls enrolled in the vocational homemaking courses, is an active organization. Members of the club annually send Christmas packages to foreign countries, contribute to the Scholarship Fund, attend regional and state conventions, and sponsor the semi-formal Snowball Frolic, the Fun Night, and the Mother and Daughter Banquet at which the degrees are awarded. The club also visits the Farm Show and various local industries, and during their regular club periods they listen to interesting guest speakers.

This year the State Homemakers' Degree, the highest state award given to a homemaker, was awarded to Evelyn Kehl, Nancy Mengel, Ardella Obyle, Jerilyn Rohrbach, and Lennia Snyder. The Betty Crocker Homemaking Award, given to the girl with the highest score in a fifty minute written examination, was won by Shirlene Lightcap. The club is achieving its purpose by sending its girls into our complex world as young women equipped with confidence and training to face the problems of tomorrow.

This year's officers were Ardella Obyle, President; Nancy Mengel, Vice-president; Shirley Freeby, Secretary; Diane Kemmerer, Treasurer; Mildred Loeb, Parliamentarian; Peggy Dougherty, Historian; and Margaret Young, Reporter.
